About 8,000 years ago, Local Sea Level (LSL) became stable after a long phase of rapid variations.

Human settlements could move into the coastal zone.