Towards Sustainability: Where do we stand?

We know that the current development is not sustainable;
We need a "quantum leap" towards sustainability very soon;
We have a good ethical principle and political concept;
We have a good metric and much of the information we need;
We have technological and conceptual solutions.

But in general we do not act accordingly.

Our common value system does not support progress towards sustainability.